Question 1:

Are you a manager? Yes No

Question 2:

Imagine there is an opportunity to do something at your company that involves a certain amount of risk. Think of this as jumping from one mountain top to another. There are four images below. The wider the gap between the mountains, the more risk is involved. Click on the image that best represents how much risk you would be willing to take.

Question 3:

In the previous question you were asked to indicate the level of risk you would be likely to take. Now we want to know what you think would happen if the risk doesn't pay off. There are three images below. Choose the image that best represents what you think would happen if you jumped from one mountain top and didn't make it to the other.
